Express Delivery

Fed Ex, TNT & DHL - we ship your order direct using the most reliable and trusted Express forwarders available. For oversized orders we have our own Air Express company.

Secure Handling

Our own warehouses repack and check all items to ensure no missing, incorrect or damaged items are sent. We are able to provide both tracking details and proof of delivery whenever requested.

Reduced Costs

We have discounted freight rates with all providers and these cost savings are passed onto all our clients to ensure an extremely competitive delivery cost.

About Us

Don't pay more for overseas supplies

The chances are, if you purchase products or supplies from overseas or local agents – you are paying too much and waiting too long for delivery. That's because overseas suppliers usually appoint Agents who, in the absence of competition, are able to dictate terms and pricing at their own discretion.

We can help

Du Bray & Associates are the original internationally networked purchasing company represented in almost every continent. We can easily access the right supplier or manufacturer in their country of origin – avoiding the middle man and his exorbitant margin. This means real savings in both delivery time and dollars.

The benefits don't stop there

A comprehensive network of worldwide associate companies enables us to act as a domestic client in the country of origin, obtaining competitive pricing and a more efficient service. In many cases, our associates will also be able to negotiate discounts or special competitive rates on your behalf. They 'speak the language' quite literally and can sidestep much of the unnecessary bureaucracy.

Not just cheaper, but also faster and easier

It is really that easy, our quotation costs you nothing and there is no obligation to proceed. Better still, you can expect a written quote ( in Australian/New Zealand dollars ) which includes every aspect involved in purchasing your goods and their delivery – before you've decided whether or not you will place an order. Remember – The service is free – our small indent margin is already included in the quoted price which we will only receive should you place an order! It is in our interests to give you the best possible price!

Because we purchase the goods in their country of origin and arrange shipping details personally through our own air and sea freight companies you're not reliant on structured transit schedules which might slow delivery.

No payment required until goods received

With both offices and a comprehensive network of associated companies worldwide, i.e. USA, United Kingdom, Europe, Germany, Denmark, Japan, Singapore, Hong Kong, Australia and New Zealand, Du Bray & Associates presents an extremely cost effective alternative to purchasing locally.

How it Works

You phone or fax with details of your requirements.

We communicate those directly to our associate company in the relevant market.

They act as a domestic client and secure all details including price, availability etc. Your identity is never divulged.

We provide you with these details in the form of a comprehensive F.I.S. (Free into store) quote in your local currency.

You place your order or decline the transaction with no penalty.

We take your order and deal with purchasing, freight, customs and any other associated matters.

You nominate a delivery address and make no payment until product is received.

Case Studies

A few examples from some happy clients.

Food Processors

The Problem

The client concerned was forced to accept an inferior USA made food grade chemical from the local agent when they actually wanted the Danish made higher quality equivalent. This however was not available to the Pacific basin area as the manufacturer insisted that New Zealand be supplied from the USA only.

Our Solution

We had our Copenhagen associates access the Danish product and supplied exactly the chemical required at an even better price than the inferior USA made item.

The Problem

The client desperately needed a food additive but the New Zealand manufacturer had quality control problems resulting in an unsatisfactory product. However reciprocal agreements with Australia not to encroach on each other's territory meant that the client was denied access to the better Australian product.

Our Solution

We simply purchased the product through our Australian office and shipped direct to the client.

The Problem

The client was a large user of a food additive for which a New Zealand company was the sole manufacturer. This manufacturer enjoyed a unique and powerful position in regard to dictating prices, setting minimum amounts to be purchased and demanding strict credit terms.

Our Solution

Through our London associates we accessed a United Kingdom produced sample of the same product and showed we could deliver container loads on a regular basis at a far better price and with most reasonable credit terms.

The New Zealand manufacturer faced with this evidence caved in and went with cap in hand to the client with not only far better terms and flexible supply but also gave a backdated credit to the client, based on a period of some 12 months, which came to a staggering $1,000,000!!!

Although in this instance Du Bray did not win the business we did prove our worth and the client has since given our company substantial business in other areas.

Manufacturers

The Problem

The New Zealand client received a quote from the Australian agent (no New Zealand agent existed) for some high priced capital equipment. They asked for us to quote through our USA office and were subsequently horrified to see that the Australian agent's price, compared to ours was 30% higher.

When the Australian agent was informed of this he told the client that the price remained the same and that they would not be able to access the product from the manufacturer.

Case Studies

Our Solution

We had our USA office again approach the manufacturer, who by this time had been alerted by the Australian agent, and convince them that we should still be allowed to supply our client at the much more reasonable price thus ensuring the manufacturer would retain the goodwill of the end user. They Agreed!

Engineering

The Problem

The client was a distributor for a product for which the pricing structure, set by the overseas manufacturer, was very high. This was because the manufacturer planned to open an office itself and intended to cut the price once it arrived and snatch the hard earned business from the New Zealand distributor.

Our Solution

Through our London associates we accessed the manufacturer's better European pricing structure and enabled the client to compete successfully against the manufacturer's recently opened New Zealand operation!

The Problem

A PCB was required for a very important part of the operation. It was made in Italy and all attempts to have the Italian company answer the many faxes sent, failed. The chief engineer came in late at night to the office, due to the European time difference, and phoned the Italian company direct.

“Buon giorno” said the Italian company – “We need an PCB P/N so and so,” said the engineer -“Buon giorno” said the Italian company – “Have you received our faxes ?” said the engineer – “Buon giorno” said the Italian company. The engineer hung up and went home to bed.

Our Solution

We contacted our London associates and had one of the Italian speaking staff (some can speak three languages) contact the Italian company concerned. They then arranged one of their courier companies to pick up the PCB and send it direct to New Zealand. The client received the PCB within 72 hours.
